DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-19, drawn to a portable video player, classified in class 386, subclass 109.
  - II. Claims 20-22, drawn to a video data recording and playback system, classified in class 386, subclass 46.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as portable video player having capability of transforming compressed input video information presented in a proprietary format into non-proprietary compressed video information and does not required a cradle having a compressed video data input port, a compressed video data output port coupled to the compressed video data input port, an analog audiovisual input port, an encoder having an input coupled to the analog audiovisual input port for producing a compressed video data signal responsive to receiving analog audiovisual data, and an output of the encoder coupled to the compressed video data output port, the cradle further having an analog audiovisual output port coupled to the analog audiovisual input port of Group II. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
